Childs Kid Glove from home to school. LOUISE NEWTON.

Your money can't buy anything better than Blue Ribbon flour. Ask your grocer for it.

A LITERARY RECEPTION.

"When I rolled home late from the club this morning my wife's look spoke volumes."

"That was easy."

"Besides those volumes her hands spoke flu-jitsu treatises and a rolling-pin, spoke a whole library of books on physical culture!"

Melody.

The bird that warbles on the bough Cheers not the weary toiler. He'd rather hear the redbird now That sizzles in the broiler.

His Meaning.

"You are certainly a good looker, Mrs. Jinx."

"You flatterer! You like blondes, then?"

"Why—er—I—didn't you just tell me that you never had to look about more than an hour or two for a good servant?"

In the Boston Way.

"Now, dearie," said the Boston nurse, "I want you to learn this nice little poem about 'Peter Piper Picked a Peck of Pickled Peppers.'"

"Shan't!" answered the Boston child, much in the manner of other children.

"Oh, naughty, naughty! Why, Waldo, why don't you learn this pretty poem?"

"For two reasons," answered Waldo. "In the first place, the alliteration of the line you quote is so excessive as to destroy any literary finish that such adventitious aids to metrical composition might lend if used more sparingly. And in the second place, consider the impossibility of picking peppers which have already been pickled. The whole thing is beneath the attention of any intelligent person."

Airship's Predecessor.

"Stephen broke another record today. His Rocket made a flight of five miles, carrying four passengers and left the rails only twice."

"Very remarkable achievement, very—but you can't tell me that the steam engine will ever be of any real practical value."—Puck.

His Own Fault.

Traveling Man—Landlord, isn't this the same roller towel that was hanging up the last time I was here?

Landlord—Yes, it's the same one, Billy, but I'm not to blame for that. You're a day ahead of your regular time, and you didn't send me word you was comin'."

An Affectionate Daughter.

Sweet Girl (affectionately)—Papa, you wouldn't like me to leave you, would you?

Papa (fondly)—Indeed, I would not, my darling.

Sweet Girl—Well, then, I'll marry Mr. Poorchap. He is willing to live here.

Parental Rule.

"Those summer board advertisements of yours read mighty fine," said the neighbor.

"Yes," replied Farmer Cornstossel. "I've done my best to make 'em attractive in hopes my boy Josh would read 'em an' think maybe he could stand the farm a little longer."

Severe Shock.

"The man who fell was not so seriously hurt, but he saw stars."

"So does any other man who bumps his head hard. Why does he make such fuss about it?"

"Ah, but he used to be a theatrical angel."

Dad Never Wins.

"Daughter, I see your class has passed to graduate in dollar gowns so you won't need that $50 I promised you."

"Yes, dad, I shall. I can use the rest of the money for orchids."

An Excusable Mistake.

"That was a beautiful window garden I saw as I passed your house this morning."

"Garden, nothing! That was my wife's hat, set on a window sill to dry!"

Favored One.

Ted—How did you come to buy flowers for Dolly when you said you had no money?

Ned—Didn't some other fellow beggar them? I just fastened them in my eye.—Puck

The Theory Wrong.

"There is a belief that summer girls are always fickle."

"Yes. I got engaged on that theory, but it looks as if I'm in for a wedding or a breach-of-promise suit."

The Signs.

"Do pearls really mean tears?"

"Well, my wife cried enough till I got her a necklace of some."

The Great Sebree Springs Season Ticket Contest

One of the Greatest Prize Winning Contests Ever Inaugurated in Western Kentucky

The Proposition

A proposition of interest to every believer in the moral uplift of the people. The policy of the new management Sebree Springs Hotel and grounds will be altogether different from past managements. The dance hall will be seated and use as an auditorium, in which to hold religious Conventions, Conferences, Association Camp-meetings, Lecture Courses, etc., which will be elevating and helpful instead of hurtful, as heretofore. The Hotel proper will be run for the benefit of the public, as formerly, and any one who desires to spend their summer vacation where they can have rest and recreation under the best of influences, and also have the benefit of the finest springs of chalybeate water in the United States, at reasonable rates, can find no better place than Sebree Springs.

It is for the purpose of advertising the change of policy and management of the Springs, that this contest has been inaugurated and this great offer made.

4 FREE 4
TRIPS
TO Mammoth Cave

One for each county—
Henderson, Hopkins,
Webster and McLean

A trip worth trying for

The management of the Sebree Springs will pay all expenses, including round trip on boat or train, two days stay at hotel, trip through cave, guide fees, etc.

The Plan

The contest will be conducted in four counties, viz: Henderson, Hopkins, McLean and Webster, outside the town of Sebree. No person in Sebree will be allowed to contest on account of it being unfair to the balance of Webster county. The town of Sebree will be left open to all contestants. This is done that everyone in Webster county will have equal chance.

Any lady, married or single, residing in the above named counties, is eligible to enter this contest, provided they live in county from which they are nominated.

Three prizes will be awarded in each county, under the following conditions: The person selling the largest number of season tickets in each county will be awarded first prize—A FREE TRIP TO MAMMOTH CAVE. One selling next largest number of tickets in each county, second prize—Two Weeks' Board at the Sebree Hotel, absolutely free. All contestants who fail to secure any of the above prizes will be well paid for their work. Should there be a tie for any of the prizes, the persons trying will be given an equal prize.

Nominations

The first person nominating the successful contestant in each county will be entitled to One Week's Board at the Sebree Springs Hotel absolutely free. Fill in the nominating coupon and send, at once, to E. M. Vance, Contest Mgr., Sebree, Ky. Remember, it costs nothing to nominate.

The season tickets cost only ONE DOLLAR for the season of five months. The tickets include the whole family, regardless of the number therein. Each holder of a ticket is entitled to free admission to grounds and free use of water, and, in addition to this, the holder of each ticket can secure one meal per day at the Sebree Springs Hotel at one-half price and any time during the season, which makes it a very attractive inducement to buy tickets.

Contest Absolutely Fair

In order that there shall be no misunderstanding in the contest, and that every contestant will feel that they are getting a square deal in this matter, a receipt will be given to every ticket sold and a duplicate receipt will be deposited in locked boxes, located in the vault of the First National Bank, Sebree, Ky. Boxes not to be opened till contest closes, April 15, 1912. Judges will then be selected to count receipts and award prizes. The person holding the largest number of receipts in each county will be declared the winner of the first prizes. The second largest, second prize; third largest, third prize. To all contestants who failed to secure any of the above prizes, will be paid 5 per cent cash on each receipt.

Forewarned.

"Your father tells me," said the earl, "that he intends to leave all his money to charity." "Oh, don't let that worry you at all," replied the beautiful heiress. "I'm sure he doesn't mean it. He told me last night that he was going to try to find out whether you really loved me for myself alone."

Pride in Saving.

Only well-bred trained people who are used to having things take pride in saving. They who have never had breeding or training and have never been used to having anything know nothing of saving. Most menials and beggars and spendthrifts believe squandering and big tipping and wide spending are a sign of big folk; aye, even of decency.

Good Substitute for Sardines.

The fact that Maine herring, when quite young, are canned and marketed for sardines done up in olive oil, is fairly well known. As the home product is about as tasty and wholesome as the imported article, there is not much use of getting excited over the imposition.

Once in Awhile.

A little music, now and then, is furnished by the long-haired men.—Judge.

Ancestor of the Dog.

It is supposed by some that the little wolf of India was the original ancestor of the dog. It is the only wild animal possessing the salient eyebrow, or crest of the dog. The little wolf has not only the dog's eyebrow crest, but all the canine characteristics, and none of the characteristics of the wolf.

Blue Ribbon flour is what you want. Ask your grocer for it.

Not Profanity.

The word "dam" is the name of a small coin used in India and of very small value, and is also the name given by tinkers to a small wad of paper put into a hole in tinware when mending it for the purpose of preventing the solder from running through. Both mean of little value, so the expression really means "I don't care the value of a dam."

Longevity of the Earth.

That the age of primitive man in France run back at least two hundred thousand years has been satisfactorily proved by Lyell and other geologists, who showed that it has taken at least this long for the rivers to wear away their beds below the caves where they once flowed.

The Accompaniment.

Rubinstein once declared to some one that he was descended from one of the Crusaders who accompanied Richard Coeur de Lion to Palestine. "On the piano, presumably," was the smiling response.

London Good Oyster Market. London is a great consumer of oysters. The cheapness of the delicacy half a century ago created a demand for it, which has hung with the appetites of the people as tenaciously as the habit of smoking a pipe has among the men. It is estimated that London consumes a billion a year, and the record shows that in 1864, when prices were very low, 700,000,000 were eaten.

There is no better flour made than Blue Ribbon flour. Ask your grocer for it.

Pipes Not Made From the Brier. French brier pipes are not made from the roots of the brier, but from the root of a white heath which attains a considerable size in the south of France, where it is sedulously cultivated for pipe-making purposes. The name is derived from the French bryere, the dialect form of which is briere, meaning heath.

Women!

If weak, you need Cardui, the woman's tonic. Cardui is made from gentle herbs, acts in a natural manner, and has no bad results, as some of the strong drugs sometimes used. As a medicine—a tonic—for weak, tired, worn-out women, Cardui has been a popular success for over 50 years.

E 57
Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

Mrs. Lula Walden, of Gramlin, S. C., followed this advice. Read her letter: "I was so weak, when I first began to take Cardui, that it tired me to walk just a little. Now, I can do all the general housework, for a family of 9." Try Cardui for your troubles. It may be the very remedy you need.
